

Technical Sales Engineer

Territory – Southern England

Company/Opportunity

Amber Composites is growing. We have new private equity ownership, a proven team, industry-leading technology and we are pursuing an ambitious but realistic goal of rapid expansion into new markets.

Due to continued expansion and an aggressive growth plan we are currently seeking to recruit a Technical Sales Engineer in the UK to add to our existing sales team.

Responsibilities

- Servicing and growing our current customer base.
- Provide focus on new developments in both existing and new markets.
- Create and maintain strong relationships with customers.

Qualifications

- Experience of Composite Materials.
- Excellent communication and presentation skills.
- Strong organisational skills.
- Keen customer focus.

Compensation

We're offering a competitive compensation package. The location of our corporate headquarters is in England.

Contact Info

Please cut and paste your covering letter and resume into the body of an email and send to careers@ambercomposites.co.uk Email attachments will not be opened.